POLICY & INCIDENT
POLICY NUMBER HO-2025-WD-07331	DATE OF INCIDENT 2026-02-18
DESCRIPTION OF INCIDENT On the afternoon of February 18, 2026, my husband was entertaining our golden retriever, Luna, with indoor fetch in the upstairs hallway because of a heavy rainstorm. On a particularly enthusiastic retrieval, Luna's tail whipped against the back of the upstairs washing machine and dislodged the cold-water supply hose connector at the wall valve in the laundry room of my insured property (2918 Lakecrest Ave, Bellevue, WA 98005). We did not notice the loose connector at the time. Several hours later, when my husband started a load of laundry before bed, the connector fully separated under pressure during the wash cycle and water flowed onto the laundry-room floor and seeped into the adjacent hallway through the night. By morning, approximately 55 sq ft of engineered hardwood across both areas had been soaked, with visible warping and cupping along the edge nearest the washing machine. Cascadia Floor & Water Restoration was contacted on February 19 for emergency drying and provided a repair estimate covering removal and replacement of affected flooring, subfloor treatment, and final cleanup. Luna is unharmed and has been temporarily retired from indoor fetch.
